URGENT DEFICIENCY BILL

FORMER JUSTICE FITZGERALD DIES

Deposed from Special Sessions Bench, Found End in Newerk Lodging.

tics to High Office, Which He Held Under Charges.

A homeless outcast and a fugitive Thomas Fitzgerald, up to last October a Justice of the Court of Special Sessions of Kings and Richmond Counties, died last night at the Kensington Hotel, a cheap place of lodging in Newark. N. J. Shortly before he died he asked that his wife be sent for, but she reached Newark too late. The body was removed to Fitzgerald's old home at Port Richmond, Staten Island, this afternoon.

Thomas Fitzgerald was born at Elm Park, S. I. fifty-six years ago. His father kept a hotel, and in his youth the young man served as bartender.

Through activity in politics he attracted the attention of the veteran Staten Island leader, Nicholas Muller, was elected District-Attorney of Richmond County.

Entanglements Made Scandal.

The contest was carried to the courts and Fitzzeraid won, to the subsequent regret of Mayor McClellan. At that time Fitzgeraid was deep in financial difficulties. His creditors pressed him until the matter became a scandal in Brooklyn legal circles. Rumors of his entanglements reached Mrs. Margaret Canadian Pacific. Stephen of Yonkers, one of his clients, and she demanded of him an accounting of an estate which she had committed to his care. He failed to make an accounting, and Mrs. Sievin, through De counsel, brought suit and got judgment.
This was in the full of 1905. When judgment was entered Fitzgerald went to Red Bank, N. J., and did not appear in court in Brooklyn until the next In February, when he succeeded in making some sort of a settlement with Mrs.

During the year 1996 he sat in conft M. K. & T. pf. only twenty-eight earlys. His every answer Factor appearance was a signal for the garher-ing of a horde of creditors. He went Sortina & West.

Deposed and Disbarred. At last the status of Justice Fitzger-id reached such a stage that it com-nanded the attention of the Bar As-ociation. Charges were preferred gainst him and many witnesses were vannined. It was courred that no had lefranded cliems, evaded debts and legranded cliems, evaded debts and lessed bud cheeks. Almough he was Mayor Low, who regarded Fitzgerald as unfit, was anxious to effect his permanent retirement. To this end, on Dec. 29, 1903, he appointed Appleton F. Clark, a Republican, of Staten Island, to the Special Sessions bouch, to fill the expiration of Fitzgerald's term. And on the morning of Jan. 1, 1904, a few hours before Mayor McCellan took the oath of office, ...ayor Low appointed Mr. Clark again and swore him in.

The contention of Mayor Low and his legal advisers was that the term of Justice Fitzgerald expired at midnight Dec. 31, while the term of the Mayor did not expire until noon of Jan. 1, when his successor took the oath, and that the appointment in the tweive hour interval was legal.
